

Who drives the credit-induced first-birth increase

First births are 83.4% of the total impact birth increase (all birth orders).
Denominator: all initial households (occupied-state contributions), not at-risk or within-cell shares.